A letter from the dean

Welcome to the Florida State University Libraries. As one of the top 50 public academic research libraries in the U.S., the Florida State University Libraries are essential partners in the intellectual life of the University and enhance the learning, teaching, research, and service activities of the Florida State University community. We are excited to work with you to realize your teaching, learning, and research goals. We strive to create and maintain a welcoming and inclusive environment in which all individuals are treated fairly, respectfully, and valued for their distinctive skills, experiences, and perspectives. I invite you to visit our one of our libraries when you are on campus or visit us virtually, 24/7, at lib.fsu.edu to explore the Library's rich collections, innovative services and learning spaces. Your thoughts and suggestions are welcome. We look forward to meeting you soon, and wish you great success at FSU.

Gale S. Stockmaier
DEAN OF FSU LIBRARIES

Find Research Articles

There are many options available for gathering information about your research topics and class assignments. Start at the library homepage to access scholarly articles (research papers written by experts), periodicals (magazines, newspapers, and scholarly journals), and databases (online platforms that host periodicals and different types of sources) via our OneSearch search box.

GUIDES

Check out our Research Guides

A streamlined way to explore a wide variety of topics -for subject- or course-specific resource recommendations. Research Guide topics can range from those as broad as Biology or Psychology to as specific as the History of Medieval Manuscripts and Facsimiles.

Looking for further guidance on using finding research articles? Check out our Getting Started webpage!

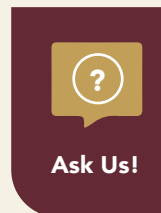

Ask Us - Anything!

Need help getting started on a research paper? Trying to figure out how to search for your topics? We can help!

Ask Us! provides research and reference support through live chat. You will be instantly connected with a library professional who can help you with your research and library-related questions.
